AMONG THE WOMEN

Female Extremists.—The Shade Shows the Character.

THEIR EFFECTIVE DIPLOMACY

Jumps From One Extreme to Another Without the Least Trouble—Dress an Indication of Character of Women.

Why does lovely woman rush to extremes? If she goes in for society, she has no time for anything else. If she loves animals, behold, she provides herself with a menagerie. If she goes in for woman's rights, she is more manly than the men themselves. If she sighs for a career, people have to hear about nothing except that career morning, noon and night.

The other evening at a dinner a very charming woman came in wearing a black gown covered with what appeared to be royal decorations. Closer observation showed that they were whilst trophies. There were ten of them, testifying to the lady's ability as a player and her devotion to the game. "Yes, indeed," she gurgled on being questioned. "I play it in the morning before breakfast, all the forenoon before lunch and most of the afternoon till it's time to dress for dinner, and then I try to find congenial people for a nice evening game. I have a little arrangement of silk in which I keep my cards, and on the train there are sure to be enough people who play, so that I can make up a set. I recently had a most delightful journey and made several new friends in this manner, for we played nearly all the way from New York to Chicago." This indefatigable whilst lover, by the way, is sixty-five years old!

A maiden lady from out of town who sat opposite felt somewhat left out of the conversation, and so she started out to tell what a fiend she was at fox hunting. "When you speak of playing all day, my dear," she remarked, with a little air of superiority, "I can't help remembering how we used to get up at 3 in the morning to go hunting and keep it up until long after dark. We would never think of going visiting without taking along, each of us, a pair of horses and a pair of dogs. In fact, we lived in our riding habits."

Colors and Character.

Have you ever noticed that the colors a woman wears are a pretty fair index to her disposition?

The lady of a colorless temperament delights in grays, dull blues and muddy shades of tan—in a word, those tones guaranteed to "go with everything" like the wearer. The imperious woman of warm imagination and vivid impulses dotes on crimson and reddish tones of every sort. The subtle woman mixes two or three odd shades in her costume in a way that you find bewitching. The very religiously inclined woman wears black and wears it soulfully.

Innocence has come to be associated with white and pale blue, and worldliness with pink and yellow, therefore the feminine actress who wishes to create either the one or the other impression robes herself accordingly.

There's more than dye that comes out of the dye pot!

Effective Feminine Diplomacy.

Nature often places a lovely flower in ugly surroundings in order to set off its beauty, and woman has learned her little lesson from nature. Observe the beauty making friend of the ugliest girl she knows and the clever woman accentuating intellect by comparison with her stupid sisters.

Here's a case in point. In a prominent woman's club recently the secretary, a very brilliant woman, was forced to resign on account of outside duties that could not be neglected. She was asked by the president to name some one who would be an able successor to her. Without a moment's hesitation she spoke warmly in favor of one of the least capable members of the club, a woman unable to write a single clever or even suitable line.

Why did she do it? Watch the result. Every day she hears how her brilliancy is missed and that the club management will go to pieces if she does not return.

RATHBUN PUT IN JAIL.

Former Political Leader Caught After Sensational Escape.

Elmira, New York April 12.—Louis G. Rathbun once a prominent resident of this city, political leader and postmaster, is in the county jail, in Penn Yan, Yates county, for contempt of court following his arrest at Riverhead, Long Island, and a sensational escape from the Yates county sheriff and an Elmira attorney on the way to New York city.

Rathbun failed to satisfy a judgment of $4700 secured by the Elmira Mechanics' Society as the result of not paying promissory notes when they became due. Supplementary proceedings were instituted, but Rathbun neglected to obey the order of the court, and finally, after two adjournments, Judge Knox ordered him committed to the county jail, it having been established that Rathbun was financially able to pay the judgment.

This was in January of the present year. It was then thought Rathbun was in California. This week it was learned that he was in Riverhead, and the Yates county sheriff and an Elmira attorney went there and placed him under arrest. On the way to New York city Rathbun desired to change his seat in the car, and permission was given, and a moment later he disappeared. He had jumped off the rear platform of the train. Search for him failed, and the sheriff and officer were about to return when, on the way back to New York city, they saw Rathbun emerge from the toilet room of the car they were riding in. Rathbun several years ago married Louise Monte, a chorus girl in Weber & Field's music hall, New York. She divorced him later.

What the Pie Was Made Of.

A cooking expert gave a dinner recently to a cooking class of young married women.

"I am making," she said, "a collection of cooking stories. Only yesterday a new one was told me by a dispirited young wife.

"This young wife, who had never cooked so much as a beefsteak in her life, all of a sudden bought a cookbook, entered her kitchen and plunged into the construction of an elaborate and difficult meal.

"The pie, a strange looking object, was served to the husband, a caustic person, that night at dinner. He helped himself, tried a mouthful and then said:

"What's this?"
"A meat pie," said the wife. "I made it out of the cookbook."
"Ah," said the man, "this leathery part is the binding, I suppose."
